

A Private Man

A_Private_Man_5110299cca15e.jpg

From its gritty streets to the mansions of high society, post-war Hamilton steals the show in this fast-paced detective story.

Rating: Not Rated Yet

Price

Ask a question about this book

Authors Laing, Chris

Description

- SeraphimEditions
- ISBN: 978-1-927-079-09-6 / ASIN: BOOB7AACDW
- August 2012
- Trade paperback $19.95
- eBook $5.99

"July, 1947. And hotter than hell in Hamilton."

So begins Chris Laing's debut novel featuring Max Dexter, an army veteran recently discharged and limping from a war injury, who returns to his hometown to open his own private detective agency. His first case involves arson, art theft, money laundering and murder building to its rip-roaring climax.