COLD CANADIAN CRIME: THE BIG REVEAL

CWC Announces 40th Anniversary Anthology Authors

February 20, 2022

Crime Writers of Canada is pleased to announce that 21 stories have been selected for inclusion in COLD CANADIAN CRIME, scheduled for release in May 2022. The anthology will include crime stories in a variety of sub-genres, both fiction and true crime.

In all, 46 stories were submitted for consideration. All submissions were anonymously read and selected by three independent judges, who are not members of CWC. No member of the Anthology Committee or the CWC board was involved in the selection decisions, and throughout the process only Ludvica Boota, Managing Editor of the anthology, knew the identity of any of the authors, either selected or otherwise.

Our congratulations to the following authors:

K. L. Abrahamson
Pam Barnsley
Thom Bennett
Susan Calder
Melodie Campbell
Brenda Chapman
Lisa de Nikolits

Elizabeth Elwood
Alice Fitzpatrick
Delee Fromm
R. M. Greenaway
Blair Keetch
Sylvia Maultash Warsh
Rosemary McCracken

donalee Moulton
Lynne Murphy
C.S. O'Kinneide
Lorna Poplak
David A. Poulsen

At this time, we would like to publicly acknowledge and thank our judges:

Allison Dore: Allison is the host of The Breakdown on SiriusXM channel 167, and the founder of Howl & Roar Records, Inc.

Katrin Szymanski, B.A., M.A.: An avid reader of mysteries, Katrin is a Library Associate at the Barrie Public Library, where she supports programming initiatives for authors and readers.

Lori McMulkin: Lori is a retired school administrator who spends her time hiking, curling, reading, and writing book reviews on her blog, The Retired Book Lady.

Thanks to all PAMs and AMs who took the time to write and submit a story, and to all members of the Anthology Committee, who continue to work hard behind the scenes.
